THE UNIVERSITY COAT-OF-ARMS AND BANNERS

In 1890, at the request of Leslie Lyle Campbell, Class of 1887, Professor W. G. Brown designed a white silk banner bearing the words Washington and Lee University embroidered in gold letters on a blue scroll. Below the scroll was a composite shield made up of heraldic elements from the coats-of-arms of the Washington family and the Lee family. The shield has survived the years, but the original banner has not.

Before 1903, Professor Brown designed a full coat-of-arms with crest and motto. The black raven rising out of the golden ducal coronet comes from the Washington crest. The upper left quarter of the arms depicts an open book with an injunction from I Thessalonians to “test all things.” The upper right quarter exhibits the arms of Washington of Sulgrave, and the lower left quarter the arms of Lee of Coton. The arms in the lower right quarter are those of Astley of Staffordshire, and signify a marriage between the Lee and the Astley families. The motto, non incautus futuri, based on a phrase from Horace’s Satires and translated “not unmindful of the future,” comes from the Lee family arms.

In 1998, in celebration of the 250th anniversary of the University, David D. Brown, Law School Class of 2000, designed four banners that draw upon the original heraldic design of 1890. The new University banner is a revised version of the design by Professor W. G. Brown. The banners for the College, the Ernest Williams II School of Commerce, Economics, and Politics, and the School of Law derive their separate designs from the University banner.

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

A mace is a ceremonial staff and a symbol of authority. The mace is carried by the Marshal to denote that the University is in session. It was designed in 1951 by Marion Junkin, Class of 1927 and Head of the Department of Fine Arts, and carved by Mary Barclay, a member of the staff of the Alumni Office, from a 150-year-old walnut beam taken from the old Lexington firehouse. The University coat-of-arms is carved on opposite sides of the urn-shaped head and painted silver, blue, red, and gold. Below the arms are the scroll and the motto. Atop the mace are the coronet and raven from the University crest.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

In the procession of the Faculty, guests will see a variety of academic costumes. The design of the gowns has evolved over centuries from medieval origins. Most of the regalia seen today represent the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Traditionally, the doctoral gown is black, has full sleeves gathered at the wrists, velvet bars on the sleeves and velvet panels on the front. The colors on the hood, which is worn around the shoulders, designate both the academic discipline of the degree earned by the wearer and the university that awarded it. The gold tassel on the hat is another sign that the wearer holds a doctoral degree. Over the years some universities have adopted gowns in colors that complement their hoods.

THE FLAGS

The international flags on display represent the graduates from Bulgaria, Canada, Ecuador, German Federal Republic, Hong Kong, India, Italy, Jamaica, Lebanon, Mexico, Nepal, New Zealand, Palestine, People’s Republic of China, Poland, Republic of Korea (South Korea), South Africa, Spain, Swaziland, Sweden, United Kingdom, and the United States of America. The University is grateful to the family of Douglas Panzer, Class of 1998 and Class of 1999, for its generosity in helping us to build and maintain our collection of international flags.

HONORARY DEGREES

ROBERT M. SINSKEY

Robert Marshall Sinskey—physician, researcher, teacher, innovator and humanitarian. Dr. Sinskey, a native of Baltimore, Maryland, graduated from Washington and Lee University in 1945 with a Bachelor of Arts and earned an M.D. from Duke University in 1948. He was a member of Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity.

An accomplished physician and surgeon, Dr. Sinskey pioneered the use of intraocular lens implants and was the first surgeon to perform the procedure on infants and children in the United States.

As a lieutenant in the United States Navy following World War II, he studied the effects of radiation on the eyes of atomic bomb victims. His research showed that the lens, not the retina, is the most sensitive to radiation, a finding that has informed treatment of cancers around the eye. He has authored more than 30 journal articles and textbook chapters and co-authored the Manual of Cataract Surgery, which is a key reference for ophthalmologists everywhere.

Dr. Sinskey served as a clinical professor of ophthalmology at the Jules Stein Eye Institute at the University of California, Los Angeles, School of Medicine, and has participated in more than 100 symposia and speaking engagements. He serves on the editorial boards of Ocular Surgery News, Ophthalmology Times, European Journal of Ocular Surgery News, and Asia Pacific Journal of Ophthalmology.

Dr. Sinskey designed several innovative surgical instruments and patented the Sinskey Hook, which is used in laser procedures and eye surgery, allowing for smaller incisions. He also pioneered a procedure to treat nystagmus, the involuntary movement of the eyes that prevents normal focusing.

In addition to his advances in medicine, Washington and Lee recognizes Dr. Sinskey today for his humanitarian work. He founded the Robert M. Sinskey Foundation, which supports initiatives associated with the environment, natural resources, eye research, higher education, and human services. His passion for improving vision, especially in children, has helped to restore sight to people around the world. He led efforts in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, to create the American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery's pediatric eye-care clinic, which was later named the Robert M. Sinskey Clinic.

In recognition of his many significant achievements and professional contributions, he has been inducted into the Ophthalmology Hall of Fame and received the Duke University Humanitarian Award and an honorary doctor of medical sciences from the University of South Carolina.

Dr. Robert M. Sinskey, in recognition of your lifelong accomplishments as an extraordinary physician, innovator, humanitarian, and distinguished alumnus, Washington and Lee University is proud to confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Science, honoris causa.

PAULINE YU

Pauline Yu is a teacher of East Asian languages and cultures, a scholar of Chinese poetry, a university administrator, the president of the American Council of Learned Societies, and a life-long advocate for liberal education.

Educated at Harvard and Stanford, Professor Yu has served several universities as a classroom instructor of Chinese language and culture. She has written books about imagery in the Chinese poetic tradition and the poems of Wang Wei. One of her edited volumes is enticingly titled Ways With Words and deals with the challenges of writing about the reading of early Chinese texts. Her scholarship and her teaching have used poetry to build bridges between East and West, between past and present, and between the mysteries of the Chinese historical experience and the cultural complexities of contemporary America. Dr. Yu is a distinguished scholar and teacher in East Asian studies.

In addition to her accomplishments as an internationally recognized scholar, Pauline Yu has excelled in administrative posts, first as a department chair, then as Dean of Humanities in the College of Letters and Science at UCLA, and now as the president of the American Council of Learned Societies, a national coalition of professional academic organizations. In addition, Dr. Yu holds appointments on the Board of Overseers at Harvard; the Senate of The Phi Beta Kappa Society; as a trustee for the Asian Cultural Council; on the Board of Directors of the Teagle Foundation; as a member in the Scholars' Council of the Library of Congress; and has many other titles and responsibilities in enterprises all across the landscape of American and international higher education.

Dr. Yu is a public champion for the humanities and liberal arts, as demonstrated by the titles of some of her recent public addresses, such as “Revitalizing Humanities: Expanding the Vision of Liberal Education” and “Insurmountable Opportunities: Liberal Education in a Changing Climate.” An eloquent speaker, Dr. Yu has been a tireless advocate for our shared vision of liberal education for the 21st century.

Pauline Yu—distinguished teacher, scholar and leader in liberal-arts higher education—Washington and Lee is proud to confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

FREDERICK EDWARD ROBIN BUTLER

Frederick Edward Robin Butler, Baron Butler of Brockwell, is a public servant who rose to the highest ranks of the British government. A distinguished educator, the former master of University College, Oxford, he is a longtime friend and professional associate of Washington and Lee University.

A distinguished graduate of Oxford, Robin Butler earned two firsts at University College and was launched into a long, varied, and highly successful career in public service.

Robin Butler served five prime ministers with distinction—as the private secretary to Edward Heath and Harold Wilson; as principal private secretary to Margaret Thatcher; and as cabinet secretary during the premierships of Thatcher, Major, and Blair. In 1998, when he retired, he was the head of the British Civil Service.

That same year, he was made a life peer and a member of the House of Lords. In 2004, he chaired a panel examining the controversial intelligence leading up to the war in Iraq. The final document produced by that panel, still known as the “Butler Report,” was a balanced and critical review of one of the most consequential foreign-policy decisions of our time.

A second career, this time in higher education, began when Lord Butler accepted appointment as master of University College, where he served his alma mater with the same distinction with which he served his country. For many years, he and his wife, Jill, were gracious hosts to Washington and Lee students and faculty who studied at Oxford under the auspices of long-established exchanges between our two institutions.

Lord Butler, accomplished student, dedicated public servant, adviser to prime ministers, senior statesman, administrator of University College, and friend to Washington and Lee, we are proud to confer upon you the Doctor of Humane Laws, honoris causa.

GORDON S. WOOD

Gordon S. Wood is one of our nation's leading historians, an award-winning author, a lifelong educator, and a scholar who has given this generation new and powerful insights into the hearts and minds of the leading figures who created the American republic.

A nation such as ours that is built on ideas has a special need for intellectual historians like Gordon Wood. He has spent a distinguished career exploring and explaining the ideas upon which America was founded. His classic books, The Creation of the American Republic, 1776-1787, The Radicalism of the American Revolution, and The Americanization of Benjamin Franklin won prizes that bear the names Bancroft, John H. Dunning, Pulitzer, Ralph Waldo Emerson and Julia Ward Howe. He has recently published a volume in the Oxford History of the United States, Empire of Liberty: A History of the Early Republic, 1789-1815, and a collection of essays on members of the founding generation, Revolutionary Characters: What Made the Founders Different.

What sets apart the work of Gordon Wood is a remarkable breadth of scholarship, an uncanny ability to bring the 18th century to life, an elegant use of the English language, and a remarkable insight into the origins and development of the ideas, risky at the time, that shaped the birth of the American democracy. His books and lectures take us to a different and difficult time and never shy away from the complexities and contradictions, the fortunes and foibles, the idealism and ideologies that characterized the men and women who built a new nation and dreamed of a new world. A recent New York Times review of his latest work said it well: "On every page of this book, Wood's subtlety and erudition show. Grand in scope and a landmark achievement of scholarship, Empire of Liberty is a tour de force, the culmination of a lifetime of brilliant thinking and writing."

Gordon S. Wood, emeritus professor at Brown University, graduate of Tufts University and Harvard University, fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the American Philosophical Society—Washington and Lee University is proud to confer upon you the Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

ARRANGEMENTS ON W&L'S COLONNADE

FIRST AID: The Student Health staff is available in the lobby of Washington Hall to assist those who need first aid. They are also able to contact a local rescue squad in case of an emergency.

PHOTOGRAPHS: A “Class of 2010” banner has been set up on the Colonnade for individuals, families, and other groups who may want a photo.

Amateur photographers are asked to be aware of and respect others taking pictures, including the University’s photographers. An area near the stage is reserved for guests who want to take pictures of graduates receiving their diplomas. Space and line-of-sight limitations prevent us from accommodating video tripods near the stage during the ceremony.

Families or friends of graduates from the Williams School (BS or BA degrees) may find the best vantage point is left of the stage facing the chapel; those of graduates from the College (BS or BA degrees) may find the best spot is right of the stage facing the chapel.

Photographs may also be viewed and purchased online at photostore.wlu.edu.

VIDEOS: A DVD of commencement will be available within an hour after the completion of the exercises. In advance of the ceremony, DVDs may be purchased at a table in the Elrod University Commons where they may later be picked up.

REMOTE VIEWING LOCATIONS: Air-conditioned, remote viewing of the commencement exercises is available in Stackhouse Theater on the first floor of Elrod University Commons and in Northen Auditorium on the second floor of Leyburn Library.

REST ROOMS: Rest rooms for guests are available inside the main lobby of Washington Hall, the central building on the Colonnade, and in adjacent buildings.

SAFETY: Members of the Public Safety staff are in uniform and will be available throughout the ceremony. If you have questions or need assistance, please feel free to seek them out. You may reach a member of the Public Safety staff at 540.458.8999.

WATER: The University provides complimentary water stations to the sides and rear of the seating area. Faculty and graduates also have bottled water at their seats.
